

To: Altech Corp. Customers
From: Laszlo Gyorgypal
Subject: RoHS, Deca-BDE, REACH Information
Date: January 15, 2009

In response to recent changes in the ROHS (Deca-BDE) regulations and numerous requests by our customers for ROHS, and REACH compliance Altech Corp issued the following statement:

RoHS, Deca-BDE:

Altech Corp is able to certify compliance to the RoHS (including Deca-BDE) directive for most manufacturers, but you must request this RoHS compliance (including Deca-BDE) for the specific parts in your purchase order. Also, you may view our product RoHS compliance certificates (per manufacturer) on our web site www.altechcorp.com/ROHS .

If the certificate is available for the product category you looking for, a ROHS  link is placed on that product category main page and by clicking on the link you can download the certificate.

For example by clicking on the  link on the push button main page you have access to the ROHS certificate issued by the push button manufacturer (<http://www.altechcorp.com/HTML/PushButtons-A.html>)

REACH:

Altech Corporation is aware of the REACH regulations. We do not believe that the REACH initiative will have a direct impact on product availability through Altech Corporation.

Customers who have questions or concerns regarding the chemical breakdown of a component purchased from Altech Corporation are directed to our website (www.altechcorp.com) where they can access additional information regarding the REACH initiative, where information is made available by our suppliers.

Sincerely

Laszlo Gyorgypal
Altech Corporation